

Abstract of the Invention

NO_x is generated by means of a plasma-enhanced method which, with the addition of H₂-containing gas, reduces NO_x to NH₃ and uses the thus obtained NH₃ as the reducing agent for an SCR catalyst for exhaust emission control. A plasma reactor is provided in the corresponding apparatus for performing the method.

2099505